Attention Students

Earn Your Community Involvement Hours with Open Tuning Festival

Open Tuning is a DIY Music Festival looking for volunteers with a love of music and community - and this event is a great way to share both. Open Tuning is a totally free event with no advertising or sponsors – which means that we are 100% community organized and volunteer driven. We want all of our volunteers to gain a positive experience – and also go away happy so that they will return for next year's festival.

If you have some time either on – or before - June 10th, want to help fill Toronto streets with free music for everyone, and want to get Community Involvement Hours, get in touch. We'd love to have you volunteer with us.

ABOUT OPEN TUNING MUSIC FESTIVAL

Now in its fourth year, Open Tuning: A Free Music Festival will take place on June 10th, 2017. Once again the streets of downtown Toronto's Seaton Village will vibrate with live music from all genres at unique venues across the neighbourhood. This year's eclectic line-up will again feature first-time performers, basement rockers and hip hoppers playing alongside seasoned recording artists.
